48 HOURS MYSTERY: "A Fatal Attraction" (10:00-11:00p) - Joanne Witt, a 47-year old engineer in El Dorado Hills, California was stabbed to death while she was sleeping on Thursday, June 11, 2009. One month prior to her death Joanne found her 14-year old daughter Tylar Witt in a compromising situation with 19-year old Stephen Colver. Joanne was a single mother and along the way had lost control of Tylar, but exposing her daughter's relationship with Stephen would prove to be their last fight. Joanne tried to stop the relationship once she was aware of it, but the couple denied any wrongdoing. When Joanne discovered Tylar's diary detailing the sexual encounters between the couple, she went straight to authorities, and an investigation was opened. Prosecutor Lissette Suder, in conjunction with Stephen's defense attorney Dain Weiner and Tylar's lawyer Mark Ralphs, outlined the unfolding sequence of events. Tylar and Stephen were afraid of statutory rape charges and after Joanne was dead they decided to rent a hotel room for the night in San Francisco. Stephen and Tylar wrote suicide notes, and ate rat poison hoping to die together. When the rat poison didn't work they were on the run until local police officers turned them in. Tylar ended up turning on Stephen once prosecutors got involved and at his trial, she testified against him. In the end Stephen was sentenced to life in prison without parole, and Tylar pleaded guilty to 2nd degree murder, receiving 15 years to life. On screen text graphic: Tylar Witt is not eligible for parole until 2024; she will be 29 years old.

07/07/12

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The Killing Fields" - a report about a desolate strip of land between Houston and Galveston where over 30 young women and girls have disappeared or have been murdered, and a followup to "Killer in Friendswood" (OAD: 05/01/97), which detailed the disappearance and death of 12-year-old Laura Smither. With this weekend's release of a film entitled "The Texas Killing Fields", attention has been rekindled about some of the cases, including the story of Krystal Baker. In 1996, Baker, whose great-aunt was movie star Marilyn Monroe, disappeared from Texas City and was found two weeks later near the Louisiana border, beaten to death and sexually assaulted. In 1997, Laura Smither went out to jog and disappeared and her body was found weeks later. When another young woman disappeared, the Smithers joined the search, as did Tim Miller, whose daughter, Laura Miller, was kidnaped and murdered when she was sixteen. Laura was one of four young women murdered and dumped along a remote area that earned the name "the killing fields". Journalist Skip Hollandsworth chronicled the case for Texas Monthly, in which a brilliant scientist, Robert Abel, became a suspect, but police could never find a connection. Police detectives Brian Goetschius and Michael Land are investigating, but as Hollandsworth says, it's clear that it has been various men who have done different things to these women, not one serial killer. As the movie is released, there is the reality that many of these cases remain unsolved. The actors hope that the film will help make a difference. Just after the film wrapped, a big break came up in the Krystal Baker case: DNA was submitted to a nationwide computer data bank, and a Louisiana man, Kevin Edison Smith, arrested on a drug charge, came back as a match. He has been charged with murder and will go on trial in December. The Smithers don't have DNA evidence, but they believe they know who killed their daughter: William Reece, the prime suspect in another case. Motivated by his loss, Tim Miller founded the rescue group Equusearch, which over the years, has helped look for missing people and located scores of bodies. For now, the killings seem to have stopped: no new cases of murder have arisen. Included interviews with: journalist Skip Hollandsworth; screenwriter Don Ferrarone, actor Sam Worthington; investigators Brian Goetschius and Michael Land; Jeanie Baker, mother of victim Krystal Baker; Bob and Gay Smither, parents of victim Laura Smither; Tim Miller, father of victim Laura Miller. 48 HOURS MYSTERY (continued)

07/10/12

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Screenplay for Murder" (10:00-11:00p) - a report on Canadian filmmaker Mark Twitchell, whose obsession with the Showtime television series "Dexter" turned to reality and led to murder. His film, "House of Cards", was about a male serial killer who created a fake online profile as a woman, lured men from a dating website to his garage -- and then killed them. Police became interested in Twitchell when they were investigating a missing persons case, 38-year-old computer enthusiast John Altinger, and were led to the garage where he had just wrapped shooting his movie. A Facebook page where he compared himself to the serial killer "Dexter" and the discovery of a secret journal, which was essentially a blueprint for murder, allowed Edmonton police to eventually link Twitchell to the 2008 murder of Altinger and to the attempted murder of 33-year old Gilles Tetreault -- both of whom had answered an online dating ad. On Screen Text Graphics: The Crown has decided not to charge Mark Twitchell with the attempted murder of Gilles Tetreault at this time. Ironically, an independent film about this case is currently in production. On screen text graphic for the 07/10/12 rebroadcast: Crown prosecutors have decided not to charge Mark Twitchell with the attempted murder of Gilles Tetreault. In February 2012 Twitchell dropped his appeal. Includes interviews with: Gilles Tetreault, victim; Bill Clark, Edmonton Police homicide detective; Jess, Twitchell's ex-wife; Marisa Girhiny and Trevor Hossinger, who witnessed Gilles under attack; Gary Altinger, John's older brother; Jimmy Siokos, actor and screenwriter; Chris Heward, actor in "House of Cards"; Renee Waring, Twitchell's Facebook friend; Detective Mark Anstey; Avril Inglis and Lawrence Van Dyke, Edmonton Crown prosecutors. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Family Affair" - a report on the 2008 murders of Philip Heidt and his son Carey Heidt, the shooting of Philip's wife, Linda Heidt, and the secret extra-marital affair of Carey's wife Robin with his brother Craig Heidt, who has been convicted of the murders of his father and his brother. The Heidt family lived in the small town of Springfield Georgia. Philip Heidt, a real estate developer was married to Linda. They had three sons, Chris, Craig and Carey. Carey became his father's business partner and married Robin. They seemed the perfect Southern family -- but Robin Heidt had been having an affair with her brother-in-law Craig Heidt, the self-described black sheep of the family. She even told her husband about the affair. Carey was distraught, but no fool: he removed Robin from his life insurance policy. During one of their trysts, Philip hired a helicopter to track them down because he wanted hard evidence of their affair. Carey and Robin then separated; he went to stay with his parents. Then, on August 25, 2008, the crime occurred. Philip and Carey were fatally shot with a shotgun; Linda Heidt miraculously survived, turning her head at the moment of the shooting. With nothing taken from inside the house - money and jewelry untouched - investigators concluded the motive was murder. Detectives gave Robin the news: she says she immediately confronted Craig, who said he didn't do it. Police immediately zeroed in on Craig. Linda Heidt did not see the shooter, but is adamant that Craig didn't do it -- circumstantial evidence said otherwise. Four months after the murders, Craig moved in with Robin and her children was essentially living Carey's life. Nine months later Craig asked Robin to marry him. In May 2009, Craig Heidt was arrested for the murders. His mother and brother stood by him during the trial; Robin did not. He was found guilty. Family members insist he didn't get a fair trial. Epilogue: In November 2011, Robin married Bradley Cave, who had spent a year in mandatory drug rehabilitation. In December 2011, a lawyer for the Heidt children asked a court to remove them from Robin's care and let them live with Linda. The judge gave Linda immediate custody, ordered monies from the Heidt trust to be paid to Linda for care of the children. Robin was also to turn over the children's Social Security payments. She did not and a warrant was issued. She spent two days in jail right before Christmas. On screen text graphic: Craig Heidt is appealing his conviction. On screen text graphic for the 07/14/12 rebroadcast: In November 2011 Robin Heidt remarried and moved to Charleston, South Carolina with her new husband and her three children. The court ruled that both Robin Heidt Cave and Linda Heidt share joint custody of the children. Craig Heidt's appeal on his conviction will be heard by the Georgia Supreme Court in September. 48 HOURS MYSTERY (continued)

07/21/12

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The Girl Who Knew Too Much" (9:00-10:00p) - a report on the 1992 murder of 19-year-old Mischelle Lawless, whose bloodied body was found in an abandoned car on a desolate strip of highway in Benton, Missouri. As Deputy Sheriff Rick Walter was working on the crime scene, a local man, Mark Abbott, reported that he had seen the young woman in her car, and also told investigators that he saw a white car driving near the crime scene. Police questioned Lawless' boyfriend, Leon Lamb, but could find nothing to tie him to the crime, and he passed a polygraph. Four months into the investigation, investigators got a break: 17-year-old Joshua Kezer had been held briefly in the county jail on assault charges, where, according to several inmates, he confessed to killing Lawless. Then Mark Abbott identified Kezer from a photo lineup as the driver of the white car he had seen near the crime scene. Police then charged Kezer with first-degree murder. During the trial, a young woman, Chantelle Crider, identified Kezer as having been at a party where he had words with Mischelle. However, no DNA, fingerprints or murder weapon linked Kezer to the scene. Nevertheless, Kezer was convicted and sentenced to 60 years in prison. The case haunted Rick Walter and in 2005, now sheriff, he re-opened the case. Soon the foundation on which Kezer's conviction was built began to crumble, as witnesses admitted to lying and evidence was questioned. Judge Richard Callahan agreed to review the case and was so disturbed by what he saw that instead of ordering a new trial, he declared Josh Kezer an innocent man. But someone killed Mischelle and high on the list of suspects is that local man, Mark Abbott, who was once a star witness for the prosecution. In fact, there are two Abbotts, Mark and his identical twin Matt. To this day, Walters is not sure which Abbott brother came in to report finding Mischelle, and two people in the office say that it was his brother Matt. Leon Lamb also remains a suspect. With the help of forensics experts at a "crime farm" in the Netherlands, who have examined DNA evidence, Walters hopes further investigation will allow him to bring the case to a grand jury. On screen text graphic update: Josh Kezer is suing former Sheriff Bill Ferrell for wrongful arrest. Onscreen text graphic update for 01/01/11: Josh Kezer sued Scott County and former Sheriff Bill Ferrell for wrongful arrest. They settled the case for several million dollars. On screen text graphic for the 07/21/12 rebroadcast: Josh Kezer sued Scott County and former Sheriff Bill Ferrell for wrongful arrest. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "My Mother's Murder" - On the morning of June 5, 2005, Noura Jackson, a teenager, called the police to report that she had discovered the body of her mother, Jennifer Jackson, in their Memphis, Tennessee home. Jennifer, a 39-year-old divorced single parent, was a successful bond trader, who provided Noura with a generous lifestyle. Due to the brutality of her murder, police initially considered a possible link between Jennifer's death and the unsolved shooting death of her estranged husband, Nazmi Hassanieh, seventeen months prior; they also focused on Jennifer's ex-boyfriend, Mark Irvin, a minister, who had an alibi. Although there was a lack of physical evidence at the crime scene, Noura's conflicting accounts of her activities in the hours before she called 911, a gap in her cell phone usage, and an early morning trip to Walgreen's to purchase first aid supplies for a cut on her hand, caused police to focus on her as a suspect. While none of the DNA at the crime scene matched Noura's, she was eventually charged with her mother's murder. Four years later, at her trial, prosecutors alleged that the seemingly good relationship between mother and daughter was strained due to Jennifer's criticism of Noura's hard-partying lifestyle and charged that this was the motive for the crime. The jury found Noura guilty of second-degree murder -- she still maintains her innocence. Onscreen graphics: Noura Jackson was sentenced to 20 years in prison. She will be 39 years old when released -- the same age her mother was when she was murdered. Interviewed: Noura Jackson; family friends Susan Tobey, Renea McMillan, Ansley Larsson, Dana Frederick; Sergeant Tim Helldorfer with the Memphis Police Department; Memphis detectives Lieutenant Mark Miller and Sergeant W.D. Merritt; Sergeant Connie Justice, the first officer to interview Noura; Valerie Corder, Memphis Defense Attorney; Prosecutor Amy Weirich.
